

Gov. proclaims Beer Distributor Day

---

The Register-Mail

Posted Jul 14, 2008 @ 10:48 AM

---

CHICAGO — Gov. Rod Blagojevich proclaimed last Thursday as Beer Distributor Day, commemorating the efforts of beer distributors small and large who have worked in cooperation with the state to regulate the sale and distribution of alcohol for more than 75 years.

Illinois' beer distribution industry employs 3,505 men and women who earn a total of more than $242 million in wages. The beer distribution industry generates approximately $644 million in total economic impact for the state of Illinois. For more information on the economic impact, visit www.beerservesamerica.org.

G&M Distributors and Euclid Beverage Ltd. are the two beer distribution companies in Galesburg.

---